It's our turn to begin 'Working Together to Make a Difference'

I sincerely hope everyone who attended the Grand Lodge Convention in San Antonio had as great of a time as Brenda and I did. I cannot describe the feeling and pride I felt as I carried the Illinois flag to the podium.

And wasn't the opening ceremony great? The Lieutenant Dan Band was outstanding, not to mention the things they do for our veterans through the Gary Sinise Foundation.

It was a pleasure to meet our new Grand Exalted Ruler Michael T. Luhr and have a photo with him (inset at right).

Now, it is our turn, as we put into action the plans of our Grand Exalted Ruler, that we begin "Working Together to make a Difference." In Illinois, we do work together, and we do work to improve our communities. We also help our kids and never forget our veterans.

We will work together and achieve that elusive membership gain. We are almost there; we can do it. Remember, awards for membership are still available to lodges with highest percentage gain. We hope to see some healthy competition for these awards.

Please welcome our Children's Care Corporation scholarship winners, who will be recognized at the September meeting. These kids are the "top of their class," and it is always great to hear their stories of why they chose to study physical therapy and learn where they are attending school. They truly appreciate everything we do to assist them. It really is heartwarming to listen to them and see that our work is truly appreciated.

Elmhurst Elks have an impact giving families a 'Hand Up'

Elmhurst Lodge 1531 is leveraging an Elks National Foundation Impact Grant to give area families a "Hand Up for Hygiene."

Elmhurst Elks are in their third year of partnering with the Elmhurst-Yorkfield Food Pantry and the local Dollar Tree store to provide personal hygiene and cleaning products every other month to 100 qualified recipient families.

"These families often do not have enough supplemental income to purchase personal hygiene products – products that can aid in boosting quality of life," said lodge grant coordinator and spearhead of the "Hand Up for Hygiene" project, Mike Pietrantonio. He was referring to the recipient families' self-esteem, confidence, ability to provide for family, pay bills, and their children's experience in school.

Elmhurst Lodge sought the Impact Grant, Pietrantonio said, because volunteers at the area Food Pantry reported that DuPage County, where Elmhurst Lodge is situated, had no other means of accessing personal

BPOE's 150th an all-out celebration

It is my hope that those Elks and guests who were fortunate enough to attend this year's Grand Lodge Convention in San Antonio had a great time. I'm sure you know our great Order celebrated its 150th anniversary, and the planning committee for the celebration went all out!

From the opening ceremony Sunday night to the closing ceremony on Wednesday morning, it was one of the most memorable conventions this writer has attended.

One highlight included the 150 Elks scholars (former scholarship recipients) when they made their way to the dais at the opening ceremony. What a sight it was! I am sure the realization of what our donations to the Elks National Foundation can and have done over the years impacted the thousands of convention attendees present.

IEA sponsor

The highlight of the celebration was right after the opening ceremony when the rear of the convention hall opened with the performance of Re-Creation. Everyone waited in anticipation of the evening's main event – "The Lieutenant Dan Band," which put on a 90-minute concert. Actor Gary Sinise, whom I'm sure you remember from the famous movie Forrest Gump, formed this band many years ago and performs about 30 concerts a year to raise funds for veterans.

What a perfect fit for the BPO Elks celebration!

Congratulations to our eight District Deputy Grand Exalted Rulers who were installed in their positions. This begins a year of hard work, but I can assure you will enjoy and not soon forget the experience. Good luck this year!

As we work on goals for this fraternal year, it is time we all concentrate a little harder on the membership issues our state faces. Last year the Order was close to a membership gain, experiencing only a 0.50 percent loss, which was the lowest in 30-plus years.

Unfortunately, we still struggle with membership so let's focus on this. Each Exalted Ruler should appoint a dedicated member who can form a team for membership and lapsation efforts. While we need to attract new members, Lou Sulsberger, as chairman of the Elks National Foundation board of directors, introduces the 150 Elks scholars to the opening ceremony as they came forward from the back of the convention hall. "What a sight it was," he said.

we also need to work on those Elks who have decided not to pay their dues and lose the privilege of being an Elk.

Beth and I look forward to seeing everyone at the fall convention in Springfield. I'm sure we all hope the weather we have experienced this summer will have changed by then. No, I'm not ready for winter — but some relief from this heat would sure be welcome! Until then, God bless.

hygiene/cleaning products for distribution.

"This unmet need is what drew our lodge to focus on this area for our Impact Grant project," Pietrantoni emphasized.

The food pantry assists in identifying target families of working age adults with two or more dependents who have been regularly receiving charitable distributions from the pantry for the previous six consecutive months.

Impact Grant rules require that lodges cannot simply hand out grant proceeds regardless of a program's worthiness. Lodge members must be directly involved.

Pietrantoni said he, the Elmhurst Lodge board of directors and fellow lodge members operate all facets of the project.

"This includes ongoing communication with the (food pantry) for identification of families, as well as with our local Dollar Tree for purchase of readily available and affordable products," he said. "Members then pick up the hygiene products from the Dollar Tree, assemble the hygiene packages, contact all families by phone or e-mail prior to each package distribution, continually update contact lists, host bimonthly package distributions at Elmhurst Elks Lodge for the identified families in need, and collect/analyze quantifiable quality-of-life data from questionnaires distributed to our clients at each distribution, to ensure that our program is helpful to those we serve."

After three consecutive years of operating the project, Elmhurst Elks hope to continue it with support of the ENF Impact Grant.

"In this time, we have received $30,000 in grant funds from the ENF to continue to serve the families in our project," Pietrantoni said. "We do intend to extend our grant for as long as possible to continue to serve families in our community."

Pietrantoni has one salient piece of advice for lodges contemplating applying for an ENF Impact Grant: Start early.

"Identify an unmet need in your community, involve as many Elks members as possible in your lodge, and partner with other organizations in your community to meet that need," he said.

To apply for a 2019 Impact Grant, lodges had until July 31 to detail their project proposal to the ENF. Other deadlines and details of the application process can be accessed at <https://www.elks.org/cip/grants/impactGrantsDetails.cfm>.

After three consecutive years of operating the project, Elmhurst Elks hope to continue it with the support of the ENF Impact Grant

Delinquencies top national rate

Let's talk membership. Here are some facts from Grand Lodge Membership and Marketing Manager Rick Gathen about membership in the Illinois Elks Association:

The IEA's average delinquency rate is 15.3 percent, a little higher than the 14.9 percent nationally, Gathen said, adding that Illinois Elks have 19 lodges (27 percent) that have not initiated a new member in more than 15 weeks.

We need to focus on getting

IEA secretary

a membership committee up and running. Each of our 69 lodges needs to work harder on membership.

Gathen gave a couple of reasons for declining membership. One is a

Get your district soccer kids ready for IEA Shoot on Sept. 29 in Rochester

The IEA Soccer Shoot program, hoping to build on the momentum it has generated since reviving the program two years ago, is planning its next Shoot for Sept. 29 in Rochester Community Park.

Community Park, 90 Wild Rose Lane, Rochester, is 7 miles southeast of Springfield on Illinois 29.

Registration is scheduled for 1 p.m. with the Shoot to follow at 2 p.m. All participants will receive a soccer ball, compliments of the IEA Drug Awareness Program. Also pizza and refreshments will be served.

IEA Soccer Shoot Chairman Steve Albrecht emphasizes that if lodges need help setting up a Soccer Shoot to advance competitors to the Rochester event, to e-mail him at Bowhunt10@sbcglobal.net or IEA Past President Darrell Swisher at Swish@newwavecomm.com.

Albrecht and Swisher have been encouraging lodges and districts to sponsor events.

"Darrell and I will try to come to any Shoot to help get started," Albrecht said in his 2017-18 year-end report to the IEA. "We also encourage our new district deputies and exalted rulers to encourage their lodges to get involved."

A "few more kids" participated in 2017, and "several other lodges" state they are committed to sponsoring a Shoot in 2018, Albrecht said.

He also points to the more centrally located site in the state — Rochester — as reason for brighter prospects for attracting more competitors.

The IEA Soccer Shoot program got its first start in 2003 and grew to more than 11,000 kids competing by 2007. But declining participation ended the program several years later before Swisher and Albrecht spearheaded its revival in 2016.

Peoria Lodge 20 remembers their veterans

Peoria Lodge 20 member Mike Dudley greets veterans participating in the Greater Peoria Honor Flight earlier this year. Peoria Elks have been involved with the Greater Peoria Honor Flight since 2014. "We purchase the snacks for each of their three flights each year and fill 74 snack bags for each flight," lodge Veterans Chairman Joe Boers said. "We then have two of our veteran members (Mike Dudley and Mike White) hand out the bags for each flight to Washington D.C. It is a privilege and honor to be a partner with the Peoria Honor Flight."

Lodges, claim your awards!

If you missed the Grand Lodge Convention in San Antonio, too bad! It was a blast. The location was great and everyone was very friendly.

I want to thank IEA President Tom Deien and Credentials Chairman Scott Flota for all the work they did to make an enjoyable time. They worked very hard despite the hotel restrictions on the hospitality room. All in all it came together very well.

This year is flying by so don't forget that it's never too soon to get your goals for the year in place.

IEA Secretary Marvin Leathers and I are sending out the Elks National Foundation goal awards as we speak. Make sure qualifying lodges request their award. It's a great tool

Our lodges were very prompt in sending in their dues.

This helps the state fund our programs that make us so proud.

Likelihood that there is conflict and bad behavior by certain individuals driving membership out the door. A dues increase may also be a reason.

IEA Membership Co-Chairs Chris Ord and Robin Lemay plan to go to district meetings this year to push membership. Please take to heart and act on what they say.

It's time Illinois Elks have a gain in membership!

Lodges have until Dec.

31 to let me know how you want to spend your award for reaching the Elks National Foundation's goal for per-member contributions. Just e-mail me where the check is to be sent.

We had 61 lodges make the goal in 2017-18. I have sent out some checks, so, please, don't leave the award on the table!

Remember, get "On Board" and help our state President Tom Deien "Drive Elksdom Forward"!

Salem Elks fulfill community need with youth lunch program

Salem Lodge 1678, one of the three Illinois recipients of the coveted $10,000 Elks National Foundation Impact Grant, donated the entire proceeds earlier this year to the local Hungry Hearts program to provide daily sack lunches to area children during the summer.

The grant was one of 77 awarded nationally in 2017-18, Salem Elk Mike Hooe said.

"It was a very elaborate application process where we had to specify, in detail, everything we were going to do, how the (Hungry Hearts) program helps the community," Hooe said. "It's all about the community. It's the Impact Grant, meaning they want it to have an impact on your community."

He said the lodge focused on the Hungry Hearts program after hearing about it from Salem Elk Rene Gozia, who helped establish the program a year ago, along with the Marion County YMCA.

"We knew that this was a really worthwhile program," Hooe said.

Gozia said the Impact Grant has enabled the program to accelerate in its purchase of food and provide room for expected growth.

The Elks grant also has enabled the program to include a literacy component to provide books for children receiving meals.

"The Elks had a book drive where we collected almost 600 books, and then we purchased some additional books through the Impact Grant," Hooe said.

Last year, the 10-week program averaged about 87 kids per day and served more than 4,000 lunches during the summer, with a high of 149 kids served and a low of 33.

The program relies on volunteers from eight community organizations who help prepare the meals at the community center.

Hooe is hopeful the grant will be renewed in coming years.

Trio keeps hope alive for growing IEA Teen of the Year program

A scant seven lodges of the IEA’s 69 submitted a total of 12 nominations for the 2017-18 Youth Activities Teens of the Year Awards.

And after the IEA meeting in September – in which only five people, and no district chairs showed up – IEA Youth Activities Chairman Gregg Collins feared there would be no awards presentation at the Annual Meeting in May.

“However, I didn’t know how impassioned two people are in our IEA Teens of the Year program,” Collins said in his 2017-18 year-end report, praising Past State President Dennis Gerleman and past Youth Activities Chair Debbie Wallace.

Collins added that he now counts himself as chomping at the bit to help ensure that the awards program doesn’t fall by the wayside.

But he cautioned that for the 2018-19 event to succeed, lodges must contact high school principals, teachers and counselors before school starts.

“They are setting up their agendas now, not in August or September,” he said. “I can’t tell how many people get back to me that the high schools tell them that their school year is already in place and they cannot implement the Teen Program.”

Meanwhile, the seven lodges from four districts that submitted nominations for 2017-18 were Kewanee, Salem, McLeansboro, Fairfield, Mt. Vernon, Chicago Northshore and Dixon, based on nominees’ scholastic achievement, class leadership, athletics and community service.

Honorees among the girls, in the order of finish, were: Kaylee Addis, representing Kewanee 724; Katherine Horene Drone, representing McLeansboro 1882; and Chloe Jewell Hodges, representing Fairfield 1631.

For the boys, honorees were: Max Allen Phillips, representing Salem 1678; Carey Larson Meyer, representing Kewanee 724; and Samuel L. Beach, representing Fairfield 1631.

Winners were awarded $1,000, a plaque and family trip to Springfield for the May meeting; for second, $750 and a plaque; and for third, $500 and a plaque.

Luhr has been an Elk since 1977, and from 1990 has served his lodge as either a trustee or a lodge officer. He was elected president of the Alaska Elks Association in 2009. At the Grand Lodge level, he served on the Grand Lodge-Lodge Activities/State Associations Committee, served for four years as a Grand Trustee, and was elected Grand Esteemed Leading Knight at the 2017 Grand Lodge Session in Reno.

Canton Lodge 626 and its Antlers group were busy earlier this year participating in community outreach to honor veterans and to stage an Easter canned food drive.

The lodge Veterans Committee dedicated a new bench in honor of all veterans in downtown Canton at Jones Park, lodge spokesperson Brenda Reneau said. Money was raised through lodge veterans events.

Among the participants were Canton city employees Carol Kohler and Sharon Ubel, lodge Veterans Committee member Debbie Ryan and Chairman Ron Romine, along with fellow Canton Elks Joe Long, Tammy Long, Steve Widger and Steve Albrecht.

In March, the lodge held a month-long Easter canned food drive. Food was collected for three area food pantries, Reneau said, and monetary donations were also received from lodge members, the Antlers youth group and the Lodge Charity Account.

$1,050 was collected and divided between First Baptist Church, St. Mary's Church and the Salvation Army. Participating in the food drive included Exalted Ruler Doug Painter, Jeff Stanley of First Baptist Church, Antlers youth leader Kari Session, Sarah Eddy of the Salvation Army, and Jay Sheplar and Wilbur Pettett of St. Mary's Church.

McLeansboro Elks take care of their young

McLeansboro Lodge 1882 earlier this summer donated 52 backpacks and a check for $250 to Wabash Area Development Inc. to buy school supplies for students who need them. Lodge Trustee Jim Melton hands the check to WADI representative Michi Halligan, accompanied by fellow representative Maranda Pedigo.

McLeansboro Elks 1882 Past Exalted Ruler Jim Melton and Exalted Ruler Bryan Heil present Katherine Drone a plaque and $750 check for placing second in the Illinois Elks Association Teen of the Year program. Top recipients of the award were honored at the IEA Annual Meeting in May.

in your community in a positive way.

I know everyone is tired of hearing about growing our membership, but it is necessary to make the Elks a viable organization to promote great programs and enjoy fellowship as well. It has been a positive in my life and hopefully in yours as well!

I wish that all of our lodges have a productive and successful year. Work hard and you will be surprised by the fun that can be created along the way. Good luck!

Salem Elks spread the wealth of ENF grants

Salem Lodge 1678 earmarked proceeds from two Elks National Foundation grants totaling $4,000 to five community groups earlier this year.

The Marion County Diaper Ministry, operated by Grace United Methodist Church, Salem, received $750 of a $2,500 Gratitude Grant to hand out diapers monthly to qualified families.

Another $750 in Gratitude Grant proceeds went to the Youth Invasion program of Grace Church of the Nazarene, Salem, to help residents with small projects around the homes and yards, including building wheelchair ramps.

Salem Community High School received $500 in Gratitude Grant funds for its SCHS Closet program to provide shoes, shirts, coats and backpacks to students who need them.

Also receiving $500 of the grant was the Salem Little League to sponsor a team and help fund the league.

The $1,500 Anniversary Grant was awarded to the Marion County Health Department to buy home test kits to screen for colorectal cancer.

Joliet Elks support cancer research

Lodge raises $3,600 at Relay for Life

Joliet Lodge 296 raised more than $3,600 for the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life in June at Joliet Memorial Stadium. Participating members, from left, are Frank Mlyniec, Jim Gibbons, Trustee Steve Rande, Lecturing Knight Karen Johnson, Mary Mlyniec, Trustee Karen Bellot, Exalted Ruler David Schultz and Carol Voigts. Members also presented the colors for the opening ceremonies and manned a booth to support cancer research and promote the lodge. The lodge has undertaken several fundraisers for cancer throughout the year. Relay For Life is a community-based fundraising event. Each year, more than 5,000 Relay For Life events take place in more than 20 countries.

Salem youth wins IEA Student of Year for 2017-18

Salem Lodge 1678 awarded Salem Community High School senior Max Phillips as the IEA Student of the Year. Phillips received the award from Salem Elk Carla Hooe at the school's senior awards program.

DeKalb Elks put ENF grant to use for kids camp

DeKalb Lodge 765 members in July served pizza and ice cream to campers at Camp Maple Leaf in DeKalb. Exalted Ruler Angela Hudson and lodge ENF Chair Steff Barringer present a check to Kishwaukee Special Recreation Association Director Julie Eggleston. The lodge donated the food and $2,400 toward next year's campers, putting to good use an Elks National Foundation Gratitude Grant. Camp Maple Leaf is an integrated summer camp offered through KSRA, which has served DeKalb County and area communities for 35 years. Camp Maple Leaf provides children ages 4 and older, and of all abilities, a fun and rewarding summer. Campers participate in age-specific and age-appropriate group activities and join in whole-camp fun. Elroy was there as well handing out Drug Awareness Program coloring books to the 65 children participating at the camp.

Contest 'A' bragging rights at stake

IEA Lodge Activities Chairman Dennis Bierman has a suggestion for 2018-19 exalted rulers of lodges that competed in the Grand Lodge All American Lodge Contest A in 2017-18.

"Place a bet of a good meal or your favorite beverage with the past exalted ruler that you can lead your lodge to a better score than that of the past year," Bierman said in his year-end report. "In that way, you can only help your lodge to grow."

Current ER's should point to March 15. That's when they need file the Contest A form to show what they've done to lead their lodges throughout the year. The more points lodges accumulate based on the form, the better their score.

"This contest is the best way to judge the performance of a lodge in comparison to past and future years," Bierman said. "I ask that new exalted rulers look at this program and use it to improve their year."

Bierman, who completed his fourth year as IEA Lodge Activities chairman in 2017-18, said his committee has focused on helping lodges coordinate with Grand Lodge programs, including Contest A.

"Through district chairs, we let the lodges know of deadlines and opportunities," he said. "Thanks to all the district LA chairs who helped in the past year."

Another way of emphasizing how lodges can honor those who serve both their lodges and communities is through the Elk of the Year program.

The award request form (PDF) is posted at <https://www.elks.org/grandlodge/fraternal/downloads.cfm>. March 31 is the deadline for requesting awards for 2018-19.

CHILDREN'S CARE CORPORATION

Lodges sole source of CCC funding

The Illinois Elks Association major state project, the Children's Care Corporation, relies solely on the support of Illinois Elks to fund its programs to benefit its special kids.

"The CCC only works because of you," IECCC Administrative Manager Bill Block said of Illinois Elks members. "Without your support we could not provide for the abundance of children we help each and every year."

The IEA assesses no per-capita funding requirement to support the CCC. It exists through the 69 IEA lodges and their planned fund-raising functions, and through the CCC's three annual mailings to Illinois Elks to sell them HoDo pins, raffle tickets and benefit calendars.

Total contributions for 2017-18 amounted to $290,400.

For 92 years the CCC has been helping kids through direct assistance and scholarships for students studying physical and occupational therapy, making this project one of the oldest and continuous state major projects in Elksdom.

Lodges advised: Stay on top of online charitable filings

IEA lodges are reminded to report their charitable works at <http://www.elks.org/clms2web> monthly, leading to a year-end filing on May 1.

Grand Lodge depends on those charity reports to retain its charity tax filing status.

The “Local Lodge Volunteer, Youth, Charitable and Community Service Programs” report form is contained in the back of the Charity Records Workbook, which is mailed annually to lodges.

The workbook may also be downloaded at <https://www.elks.org/grandlodge/manuals/>.

IEA Government Relations Chair Ali Orr, in her 2017-18 annual report, said Grand Lodge suggests that lodges compile their statistics quarterly and post them on their lodge bulletin boards, monthly newsletters and e-mail blasts.

“Another good place to share this is with your local elected officials,” Orr said. “Let them know what the Elks are doing, and invite them to one of your charitable events or lodge functions.”

“We need each and every lodge in Illinois to report their charitable hours, both accurately and on time.”

She quoted the 2018-19 Grand Lodge budget projecting $33.8 million in distributions: $12.4 million to lodges and community grants, $9.6 million to state major projects, $4.6 million in scholarships, $1 million to Hoop Shoot, $709,680 to Drug Awareness and $325,900 in miscellaneous grants.

She said the BPOE’s 150th anniversary this year is also a good opportunity to show what the Elks do in Illinois and nationally.

“The main way we can do this is by keeping detailed records of all the awesome things that we are doing for our communities,” Orr said. “We need each and every lodge in Illinois to report their charitable hours, both accurately and on time.”

Careful what you post online; bias training help available

If it can’t be printed on the front page of the local newspaper, don’t put it online.

Those are words of caution from IEA Judiciary Chair Ali Orr in her year-end 2017-18 committee report, emphasizing that negative comments and photos posted on social media can cast an image that Elks do not want to portray.

“Always show a positive image of your lodge and Order,” she said, suggesting that lodges consider addressing internet use in their house rules.

Moreover, educating both members and lodge employees on existing local and state laws and regulations is important to avoid potential lawsuits for the lodge, IEA or Grand Lodge.

“One important law would be to respect copyrights, especially on social media or advertisements,” Orr said.

“Please talk to your officers and let it be known that sexual discrimination will not be tolerated in any way.”

“The use of anything that is copyrighted could lead to the lodge being taken to court.”

And make sure lodges avoid sexual harassment.

“Please talk to your officers and let it be known that sexual harassment will not be tolerated in any way,” she said, suggesting including a zero tolerance policy in lodge bylaws and house rules.

For assistance, the Grand Lodge Discrimination and Harassment Guidelines for Local Lodges is posted at <https://www.elks.org/grandlodge/manuals/>.

Orr also advised that lodges with swimming pools make sure that pool access is limited to Elks members and registered guests, cautioning, “Lodges that do not follow this, put their lodge, this association and Grand Lodge at huge risk of liability.”

IECCC wins Five Star Award, its eighth since 2006

The Illinois Elks Children's Care Corporation received the Grand Lodge Five Star Award for its display booth at the Elks National Convention in San Antonio in July. IECCC Administrative Manager Bill Block said the latest Five Star Award is the IECCC's eighth since 2006. Also in San Antonio, Block said, the IECCC had its best three and a half days of sales, grossing $15,653. "That's a lot of ties, scarves, pins and lanyards," he said.

Lodges reap $129,275 largess to fund 70 Children's Care scholarships

The Illinois Elks Children's Care Corporation has earmarked $129,275 in scholarships for 2018-19.

Judging was completed for 2018-19 Physical/Occupational Graduate and Assistant Programs earlier this year. A total of 97 applications from 22 lodges from all four IEA-service areas were submitted.

"We are proud to say the Children's Care Program will be awarding 70-plus student scholarships totaling more than $129,275," CCC Administrative Manager Bill Block said.

The students have been notified by letter of their award. Those students who did not receive an award have also been notified; in those cases the student simply did not score high enough to receive an award, Block said.

"Please note this application has become very competitive with many more excellent graduates applying."

This is a six-year major program and two-year assistance program, and Block

Thank you, Illinois Elks!

Lodge donations provided the funding for the lift enabling Dalton to board the family van. The family remarked in a letter to the IECCC, "The Illinois Elks for Children were instrumental in this family securing a nice, safe vehicle for Dalton's travels (as is the case with all of the families you guys help out.) It doesn't take long to see the joy on Dalton's face when he first got in the van, and I can assure you that Mom was smiling just as big. Thanks again, Bill."

The Elks Children's Care Corporation made it happen for Hunter with a new set of wheels. "Hunter says thank you for the new wheels," his family said." It came just in time for his 11th birthday today! Thank you so very much!"

Madison just received her new communications device, one of the Children's Care most sought after item.
